REFUGE AND RELAXATION

IDYLLIC OJAI

Located in the mountains outside of Ojai, California, the Eco Garden Pavilion remains one of the areas most unique and expansive getaways located at the Taft Botanical Gardens & Nature Preserve. Canopied by acres of lush Australian foliage designed by botanical artist Jo O'Connell, the Eco Garden Pavilion's solar powered design was created by award-winning artist and architect Marc Whitman.

With soaring roofs, a wide terraced patio perfect for late morning brunch, and generous roof-to-floor windows, the Eco Garden Pavilion was built for providing abundant healing space and respite. The rushing waters of the Santa Ana Creek and the mesmeric chirps of native California birds invite tranquility and an overwhelming sense of peace.

The Pavilion's serene courtyard includes an encyclopedic array of verdant plantlife and path leading your own charming gazebo.

DISCOVER RESPITE AND NATURAL SPLENDOR

The Taft Gardens is an international destination for botanists, plant enthusiasts and nature lovers. Containing hundreds of rare botanical specimens, this landscape was built to inspire and awe.

EXPANSIVE LIVING

Eco Garden Pavilion | 805.649.2333

The Eco Garden Pavilion is nestled in the middle of exceptional botanic design and architectural beauty. The harmonious marriage between lush California, Australian, and South African plantlife lends the surrounding areas it's truly one-of-a-kind energy.

Neighboring the Pavilion to the north are the Zen Garden, Outdoor Amphitheater, and Art Studio. Decorated with lush vine-enveloped piazzas, Grecian sculptures, and Buddhist monuments, this land is abundant with quiet respites, splendid picnic area, and an explorative spirit perfect for children and adults alike.

South of the Pavilion you'll find maintained paths, seating areas and plaques with names of rare botanical specimens which organize the overwhelming natural wonder of Taft Gardens. The Taft Gardens provides an educational experience for visitors to learn about the majesty of nature and its complexities. Yoga retreats, meditation circles, forest bathing, and other special events are also available year round.
